

Please refrain from expanding government wiretap authority to internet communications as this will disproportionately harm smaller internet service providers. Smaller internet providers lower cost barriers and promote internet communities with a local focus. Government requirements may cause smaller internet providers to cease operations and drive consolidation in the service market.